Description	 years, offering mental health and wellbeing support. During the pandemic they saw a surge in referrals with a 25% increase from children and young people, who revealed that they had felt loneliness, suicidal and had self-harmed, resulting in children and young people withdrawing, struggling with self-esteem and confidence, lacking motivation, sleep schedules disrupted and worrying about balancing schoolwork against home life. They were successful in securing funding from the Coop to deliver a children and young person's project to build upon young people's resilience. Space and a base have been an issue, pre pandemic they were renting a small building from CCC but were limited in what they could offer due to the size of rooms, also funding only allowed for limited opening hours.
	Llanelli Mind were extremely fortunate to receive a large bereavement donation and these funds were used in purchasing a much larger property, previously owned by Neath Port Talbot College in Inkerman Street, Llanelli and they have secured funding to extend their opening days and hours to provide a streamline service to those who need their support.
	The property was vacant for almost 4 years, which created issues, such as a leaking roof, causing some damp issues, the boilers, toilets, and radiators have also leaked and caused damage to flooring, walls etc. They require funding to help with some of the renovations and general repairs, also to install a user-friendly functional kitchen, purchase appliances, and fit carpets and non-slip flooring.

Evidence of Need / Community	They conducted research in August 2021 called: Fighting for the Mental Health of people living in poverty.
Engagement	The two-way relationship between poverty and mental health problems is well established and in a tough economic environment, the scale of this challenge is increasing rapidly. Many of the people Llanelli Mind already support is on low incomes, and they are already serving some of the most deprived communities in Wales. Further research was needed to fill gaps in knowledge; to understand people's experiences of current support and identify their preferences for them to know where their future activities were most needed.
	Llanelli Town in particular Tyisha ward which is where the new property sits has been identified as one of the most deprived areas in the country, with both social-economic and environmental challenges. Other areas include surrounding villages within Carmarthenshire as the most deprived areas in Wales, which include those that live in following areas Glynamman, Brynamman, Crosshands, Gorslas, Cefineithin, Tumble, Pontyberem, Pontyates, Ponthenri, Carway, Trimsaran, Burryport, Kidwelly these areas throughout Carmarthenshire have a community wellbeing index score between 49 and 59.
	Poverty is prevalent for those who have poor physical health and mental health and the main concerns highlighted throughout the villages of Carmarthenshire include access to healthcare, high prescription rates, lack of social space due to types of housing and crime within the community. Evidence gathered suggests people living in these areas are disadvantaged due to their geographical area.
	Mind have identified three areas where insight is required to inform future work: who live in the community
	 Experience - What are people's experiences in relation to the current support offer? Along with national Mind, held various mapping exercises with both external stakeholders and people who have been identified to use the service Preference- we asked what people want from future support? they held several online focus groups, a service user participation event and several in- depth interviews. Process- What can Mind learn from previous or existing service delivery? they collated both qualitative and quantitively data
	Studies have shown that peoples mental health and wellbeing has been significantly impacted due to covid 19, which has resulted in all ages withdrawing, struggling with self-esteem and confidence, lacking motivation, sleep schedules disrupted and worrying about balancing both school/college/ volunteer and paid work against home life.
	They spoke to people living with mental health problems and experiencing poverty, a spread of ages from 16+, all with experience of a range of poor physical and/or mental health symptoms of varying severity living in both urban and rural areas in Carmarthenshire.
	A combination of those who have received mental health support and those who have not A diverse spread of ethnicities, as there is evidence that some ethnicities are more likely to experience poverty all falling within the standard of poverty as per the Joseph Rowntree definition

 Continued learning and evidence of need - Staff attended several webinars focusing on people with housing related issues and young people forums. Guest speakers included young people directly impacted by Covid-19 and for others, how service closures affected them. Peoples feedback to their current staff include What provisions and services they would like to see and be involved in More direct access to support Learn new skills including cooking on a budget, digital inclusion Other courses to learn new techniques to build their confidence and self esteem Meditation, Mindfulness five steps to wellbeing, tools they can call upon to help them process the pandemic and to support their development.
 What provisions and services they would like to see and be involved in More direct access to support Learn new skills including cooking on a budget, digital inclusion Other courses to learn new techniques to build their confidence and self esteem Meditation, Mindfulness five steps to wellbeing, tools they can call upon
Throughout the last 12-20 months, to ensure there was an interest in this project, they listened to people's views and put their ideas into this proposal, adapting their current projects according to people's voices.
They trialled the 5 steps to wellbeing, helping people try new things teach new techniques, focusing on healthy alternatives and living, introducing, and bringing diverse sectors and stakeholders together. They have encouraged people to learn innovative technology and online platforms, support all age groups, engaging the community in activities, including sponsored walk, three peaks challenge, fun days, litter picking, recycling, upcycling, dog walking, growing vegetables on allotments, food & mood activities.
They believe the above shows a definite need and these will all help towards finding solutions to social, economic, and environmental challenges.
